Activity/Lesson	State	Standards
Wright Brothers: 1900 Glider	NM	MA.6.6.M.2.1	Apply various measurement techniques and tools, units of measure, and degrees of accuracy to find accurate rational number representations for length, liquid, weight, perimeter, temperature, and time.
Wright Brothers: 1902 Glider	NM	MA.6.6.M.2.4	Select and justify the selection of measurement tools, units of measure, and degrees of accuracy appropriate to the given situation.
1903: Powered Flight	NM	MA.6.6.D.2.3.c	know why a specific measure of central tendency provides the most useful information in a given context
1903: Powered Flight	NM	MA.6.6.D.3.2	Conduct observations, surveys, experiments and/or simulations, record the results in charts, tables, or graphs, and use the results to draw conclusions and make predictions.
1905: Complete a Flight at Last	NM	MA.6.6.M.2.1	Apply various measurement techniques and tools, units of measure, and degrees of accuracy to find accurate rational number representations for length, liquid, weight, perimeter, temperature, and time.
